

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system and method for advising consumers how much to pay for goods and services by matching consumers' specific objective needs for product or service characteristics as well
5 as subjective needs, such as certainty, closure, security, style or brand. The system and method provides an interactive method of providing this advice, information, referral and transaction capability in a step-by-step intuitive manner over an on-line network.